WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Muscle Shoals nitrate project will not be completed for six years, it was declared today by Col. W. J. Barton, army engineer, before the senate agricultural committee.

Colonel Barton said the six years period of construction was necessary in order to do the work economically. "It will take three years to complete Wilson Dam. Then it will take three years more to build dam No. 3 which is necessary before the project can be operated," Colonel Barton said.

"You mean it will take six years before the public will be benefited," asked Senator Heflin.

"Yes it will take six years before the work can be done economically. We could complete it in three years but the additional expenditure for machinery would not be justified. After we complete Wilson Dam we will use the same machinery and the additional horsepower developed there in building No. 3."

Barton also declared the government has inspected sites for the erection of 46 reservoir dams in the headwaters of the Tennessee river. These dams, he added, would be used to insure steady flow of water in the lowest reaches of the Tennessee at all periods of the year.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Women sleuths ought to be pressed into service in large numbers by prohibition officials. "Women, knowing the ways of women will make better detectives than men in the war on women bootleggers," according to prohibition headquarters.

The women enforcement agents will be thoroughly trained to adopt various disguises. Women bootleggers are increasing at an alarming rate, according to Commissioner Haynes' report.

LABOR COMMITTEE CONCLUDES HEARING ON MINERS' STRIKE

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 11.—The house labor committee, with hearings on its coal strike inquiry concluded, began today to sift the mass of testimony given it by operators and union mine officials in the hope of discovering one suggestion which might lead to settlement of the controversy.

The committee found, after a week of investigation:

1. That the miners are willing to meet in joint conference with the operators if all the operators in the central competitive field are represented, or if operators representing a sufficient tonnage production to fix a basic wage scale will meet.

2. That the operators remain firm in refusing to meet in joint conference except to negotiate state or district agreements.

3. That the department of justice will not prosecute participants in a violation of the anti-trust law.

4. That congressional overtures to effect an end of the conflict are unwelcome.

One result of the hearings, it was predicted, will be recommendation from the committee to congress to legislatively create a fact finding commission empowered to delve into the cause of the labor war and administer a cure.

PUBLIC INVITED TO HEAR LECTURE BY PRYOR IRWIN

A cordial invitation to all sales people, persons interested in retail problems and the public generally was extended today to attend the lecture tonight on "Salesmanship and Service" by Pryor Irwin, noted platform speaker, who is conducting a Merchants' Institute this week.

Mr. Irwin was heard by a fairly large crowd last night and his lecture was deeply appreciated. Those persons who fail to take advantage of their opportunity to hear Mr. Irwin are standing in their own light," remarked one local merchant today after hearing the speaker last night.

"He displays a thorough knowledge of his subject, is versed in all phases of retail selling problems, but he delivers his message in such an entertaining manner that it is of interest to every person. After all each of us is interested to a degree in retail business, for it affects each of us, either as sellers or buyers."

Capital Cases Set For Final Hearing

At today's session of the circuit court the presiding Judge R. C. Brickell was disposing of some minor cases and getting ready for the capital docket which is set for Wednesday morning. There is a large attendance at this term of the court, the cases set calling for a large array of witnesses for both the state and the defendants. The already large attendance will be greatly augmented at Wednesday's session when many more witnesses in the capital cases will be on hand. The sheriff's force have been unusually busy during the past few days getting out summons and attending to other routine matters affecting the court in session.

$15,000 OFFERED FOR SCHOOL SITE OF DECATUR HIGH

The Decatur city council this morning met in special session to take up the question of buying a lot for Decatur's new $100,000 high school. The school board recommended the purchase of a site on Pond street.

The council by a vote of 4 to 2 went on record as opposing the purchase of the lot at a price of $20,000, but agreed on a purchase price of $15,000, subject to the approval of a bond issue for that amount at the hands of the voters.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Financiers and traders in Wall street today declared to the International News Service that the rising stock market, which has almost doubled the activity in the street, can mean but one thing, that a business revival of great dimensions is approaching.

The market, it is pointed out, has never failed as a barometer of business booms and depressions always have been forecast by the rise and fall of stock prices from four to six months in advance of actual business conditions.

The stage has been set for formal opening of the Greater Auburn campaign in Morgan county at a mass meeting at the Masonic theatre tonight. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

Vassar L. Allen and Joel F. Webb, prominent Birmingham attorneys, will deliver addresses. A number of local young ladies will appear in a skit depicting the Auburn football machine "going over the top." Miss Margaret Clarkson will sing, accompanied by Mrs. A. J. Harris.

Tonight's program bids fair to be one of the most interesting rendered here in many months and a cordial invitation was extended to the public to attend. There will be no charge and no collection will be taken, it was announced.

Messrs. Allan and Webb are excellent speakers and their message will be interestingly delivered. They are associated with ex-Governor O'Neal in the movement to attempt to remove all possible obstacles which might hinder the acceptance of the bid of Henry Ford for Muscle Shoals.

The stunts to be given by the members of the "Auburn football machine" promise to be unusually interesting. The exact nature of the act is being withheld by members of the committee, but the cast is composed of some of the very best talent here.

Miss Clarkson, who will render one or more numbers, of course, needs no introduction to local people. Accompanied by Mrs. Harris at the piano, her appearance alone would be sufficient to attract a large crowd.

"INFAMOUS LIE" HE

No One Appeared Before The Committee To Back Up
Charge

(Special to The Daily)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—General R. E. Steiner, of Montgomery, yesterday late appeared before the house military affairs committee and denied directly that he had offered in any sense a "virtual bribe" to the Alabama farm bureau federation to block Henry Ford's Muscle Shoals offer. He called the charges an "infamous lie."

He denied that he spoke surreptitiously with Roy C. Bishop, of the Alabama farm bureau, about the plan and denied that he was connected with the Alabama Power company at the time of the alleged incident.

No one appeared before the committee to back up the charges.

The Montgomery Advertiser this morning, in part, carries the following dispatch from Washington:

The charges against General Robt. E. Steiner, of Montgomery, before the house committee on military affairs today did not attain the proportions of a tempest in a teapot.

The "scandal" precipitated by Gray Silver, Washington representative of the farmers bureau federation resulted in other words, in the greatest fiasco which has occurred in connection with the Muscle Shoals controversy.

Here is what happened: "General Steiner appeared before the committee, denounced the charges as lies of the whole cloth, denied that his conversation with the Alabama representative of the federation, Roy C. Bishop, has been surreptitious, and stated that at the time he made his suggestion to Mr. Bishop that he was in no wise connected with the Alabama Power company."

His statement was borne out by an interview given The Advertiser by Mr. Bishop, himself, and read by Steiner to the committee, and by a declaration in person by Richard M. Hobbie, of Montgomery, that the suggestion made by Steiner to Bishop had been previously made by Steiner and himself in an open meeting of the Rotary club of Montgomery.

Following the appearance of Gen. Steiner, Chairman Kahn declared that he had not been at all impressed by the Silver charges and during the afternoon, Gen. Steiner was assured by various members of the committee that in the opinion of the committee he has been conclusively and completely exonerated.

Mr. Silver had previously filed charges that Gen. Steiner, acting for the Alabama Power company, had sought to alienate the farm bureau federation from its support of the Ford offer, and had held out suggestions that by such procedure, it could come into possession of $2,500,000.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID
FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.SENATOR UNDERWOOD CLEAR AND EMPHATIC FOR FORD.

In less than two hundred words according to Washington press dispatches, Senator O. W. Underwood has made a monumental statement, in behalf of the offer of Henry Ford to take over the government property at Muscle Shoals. What Alabama's senior senator had to say in this subject came on the eve of the introduction of Senator Norris' bill in the Senate, providing for the nationalizing of Muscle Shoals. If Mr. Underwood had turned aside to lecture the Republicans on their inconsistency in asking that Uncle Sam and not an individual operate the Shoals, he would not have been half as effective as he was. The Republican majority and the country already know how inconsistent Norris' plan is, so it would have been a waste of time to have spoken on that matter. Senator Underwood, seized the opportunity to tell the country and the world, just what they wanted to hear, namely how badly we need to make commercial fertilizer at Muscle Shoals, and just who the man is, who can make a success of the great project. Here are Mr. Underwood's less than 200 words, upholding Ford to the limit, and warning what a crime it will be to delay longer on the most needed enterprise now being considered by the American people.

"A year ago I helped get a bill thru the senate for a government corporation to run this plant, but I now prefer to have Ford do it. His is the best offer if you are approaching this matter with a desire to do the best thing for the people of the whole country. Any proposition you put thru must have the personal organization and management behind it to succeed. If you put it in charge of the government, then you have the question of successful management to answer."

"I think Henry Ford is not figuring this as a money making plan, but a great public and patriotic service," he said. "Ford is willing to bet $10,000,000 he will succeed—and he always has succeeded in the past."

"This fertilizer question is as important to the country as the maintenance of an army and navy."

Before Mr. Underwood could make the reported statement above, he was interrupted by two prominent Republican Senators, just as he referred to Mr. Ford, indirectly, and but for the fact of Senatorial courtesy, he would not have been allowed to proceed in peace. One of the Senators to interrupt was McNairy, who by the way has just put through a staggeringly large appropriation in a "reclamation bill," for the Pacific coast people. McNairy said: "Is it not a fact that the people of the south, went to Ford and begged him to take Muscle Shoals"? To this irrelevant question— for the origin of a proposal does not determine its merit—Mr. Underwood said: "That's not the fact, although it is general supposition". Senator Underwood has squarely joined the issue, and the people of all sections are with him. They believe as he is reported to have said also, that the Shoals should be developed "over all opposition".

ONE SECRET OF HENRY FORD'S NATION-WIDE POPULARITY REVEALED.

It is the practice Henry Ford has made of dealing liberally and always fairly with those he employs that has won for him such widespread popularity. There is little doubt about this. In his big automobile plants Ford has consistently paid higher wages than other industries paid, and higher than the scale demanded by the union organization. He has encouraged his employees to save their money and he has helped them to do it. He has demanded honest, clean work, and he has given honest, fair treatment in return, and wages that enable his men to live in comfort. This all goes a long way in making a man well-liked.

Just recently a new evidence of the human, kindly side of Ford's character has been given. A Detroit dispatch says that the Ford Motor Company has notified headquarters of Veterans of Foreign Wars that the company would provide employment each day until further notice for 200 men from the Veterans' bureau. The announcement also said that destitute men given positions, would be paid their wages in advance until such time as they were in improved financial condition.

This action of Ford's company is but one of many moves it has made for relieving unemployment. Naturally there are safeguards thrown around the offer made. For instance, the company requires that those employed shall have been residents of Detroit for at least six months. This is fair. It helps the local men who naturally should have first consideration, and prevents the rushing in of floaters who would take places the home men should have. No one will criticize the company for making this proviso.

The big point about it all is that Ford is keeping in mind the needs of the boys who fought for their country. A pronounced advocate of peace, Ford is showing the American spirit of appreciation for the country's heroic fighters. He also is showing that his heart is in the right place.

It is this kindly trait of Henry Ford's that makes him liked by the American people and which causes them to believe that if he is awarded the Muscle Shoals project he will carry out all of the promises he has made concerning it, chief among them being to provide employment for the country's million or more idle men.—Anniston Star.

KILLING THE SHOALS BY DELAY.

Senator Norris has drafted a bill for operation of Muscle Shoals by a government corporation. Norris' bill, if passed, would eliminate all private bids for the project.

The proposal is so out of keeping with Republican policies in general, and with congress' previous attitude toward Muscle Shoals, in particular, that there is little chance it will ever become a law.

Norris may be personally sincere, but it looks strongly as tho this move may be used as a means of killing Ford's bid, or of causing so much delay that it will die of dry rot.

Norris' bill provides the following:

1. Completion of construction of the project by the government.
2. Authorization of survey of upper branches of Tennessee River with the view of erecting huge storage dams high in the mountains.
3. Retention of all property rights by the government.
4. Organization of a government controlled corporation to operate the project.
5. Manufacture by the government of nitrates for both war emergency and peace time usage.
6. Manufacture of fertilizers by the government.
7. Sale of fertilizers to farm organizations or direct to agriculture consumers thru the corporation.
8. Leasing of surplus water power rights to private corporations by the federal corporation.

All of which sounds good, but is extremely unlikely of realization. The government has had its chance to operate Muscle Shoals and did not make good. It has allowed this tremendous project, with its vast stores of unused materials, to lie idle and deteriorating. Not until Ford submitted his proposal was there the least disposition in government or corporation circles to place any real value on Muscle Shoals. Then the project suddenly became attractive to great corporations and to congress.—Birmingham Post.

MELLON MAY BE OUSTED.

Well, things are looking better. It appears now that Mr. Harding's shake-up of the treasury department may put out the secretary of the treasury himself.

Andrew W. Mellon went into the office against the wishes of a very large section of the country. He is entirely too close to big business to suit the masses. Then, too, his former connection with distilleries made him distasteful to the prohibition forces.

Mr. Mellon's political sins, however, are two fold. In the first place, he has taken an uncompromising stand against the soldiers' bonus bill, and this, too, in a campaign year when members of congress need the bonus measure very badly in order to continue to sign Uncle Sam's payroll. Much of the delay in enacting soldier compensation legislation is attributable to the secretary of the treasury. Therefore, he finds few friends in congress.

Then, Mr. Mellon has erred in objecting strenuously to President Harding's interference with his department. The president already has ousted the head of the bureau of printing and engraving along with twenty-seven divisional chiefs. He is now working on a clean-up of the internal revenue bureau.

As for the South, it will be glad to see Mellon go. He has been a consistent foe of Henry Ford in efforts to get control of Muscle Shoals. Ford has made the statement that he would utilize the waterpower at the shoals for the manufacture of aluminum products. Much of the Mellon money is said to be tied up in the aluminum trust.—Gadsden Journal.

CAMOUFLAING ON THE SHOALS.

Advices from The Post's Washington bureau declare that the $7,500,000 appropriation to complete Wilson dam, sought by the senate agricultural committee as a rider to the army appropriation bill, will probably not pass.

This requested appropriation has all the time had the appearance of a little sop to the voters in an effort to turn their attention from the wilful disregard of their expressed will which congress has shown in handling the Muscle Shoals matter. There has been an overwhelming demand that Henry Ford get Muscle Shoals, and to circumvent this demand the senate has raised its camouflage appropriation.

It becomes more and more evident that the ways are being greased for Ford's offer. It is announced that it cannot possibly be accepted at this session of congress.

If, by any chance, the $7,500,000 should be appropriated it would in the long run simply complicate matters. The more the government spends on Muscle Shoals, the harder it will be to turn loose of it.

The only thing which can save Muscle Shoals for Henry Ford and the people, apparently, is direct political action at the polls this fall. Even then, it seems certain that the Muscle Shoals question will not be disposed of without many months of delay.

Congress is handling it with the same speed it has shown on all legislation since the Harding administration assumed office—one step forward and two backward.—Birmingham Post.

Were you ever a boy, and did you ever own a dog? If so, you can understand. You might as well have tried to buy the moon; to turn the tide of the Mississippi river; to change the course of the wind at will; to stop the songs of the birds, or cause the blooming flowers to close their petals; as to try to have bought this canine from the average boy. The dog was his friend; and as such shared with him everything he possessed. He may not have been worth a cent, but he would bark for him, run for him, wag his tail at every nod and beck of his youthful master; happy with him if only he was the recipient of a mere crust; contented if he had a place near the youthful one he recognized as the custodian of his future. The writer owned such a dog at one time, just a few years comparatively, but when the figures are applied they cover a span of years that seemingly it must be a mistake, but, as figures don't lie, it must be a fact. This dog died; to me it was the loss of a great companion; it was more than that; he was my staunch friend because I had tested him severely on many occasions, and he never wavered in the least in any of the tests. When I became mad, he stayed glad. When I was glad and happy he was the same. On a hillside near the home I buried him, my first pet dog; as tenderly as I could with my youthful hands I dug the grave, and deposited therein all that remained of a once happy reality, a bosom companion to whom I confided all my secrets and never was betrayed in a single one.

The ever changing eras make it imperative that they who till the soil shall make some plan, some line of procedure to keep pace with the changing conditions. New methods in the selling of that which is produced; new avenues of trade opening up; new customers for produce that formerly went begging for want of a market; new articles of sale that formerly had no sale at all; all these conditions call for a new alignment in the ranks of the producers of the country. That good will come from it all, and that some avenues of helpfulness is sure to come from it all is practically assured.

Skilled men, educated in the marketing of products; searching intelligently for new means and methods that will redound to the good of the men whom they represent, are giving of their time and talent to make the whole a distinct success. Out of the maze of doubt and confusion which abounded in the minds of the men who are classed as dirt farmers for the want of a leader or leaders, who would truly lead, there is surely being welded a chain of helpful links which will cause the sun to rise over Dixieland. Cotton is the main product of many of the southern states, and will continue so; to get a fair profit over the expense of producing is the objective set by those who have the idea at heart. There is constantly being new means found for the manufacture of cotton into useful things. It is now said that it is possible to manufacture much of the construction of the automobile out of cotton, and that it will produce a stronger fabric than the material now being used. With all these helpful measures being put into active force for the relief of the farmer, and the constant addition of avenues of usefulness for cotton, it is safe to say that a new day is dawning for the producer, and that a new era is beginning to dawn over Dixieland.

There are many and varied signs of returning prosperity. Bank statements and reserves reflect a most healthy condition in the finance of the country. Big business is branching out, cotton is in demand at rising prices, wheat is on the up grade, with corn and oats following. There is a disposition for the first time in three years to inaugurate a campaign of building, this is expressed and reflected in the building permits being issued by the different municipalities the country over.

More improvements are being made on the farms of the country than for the past two years; improvements of a permanent character. Horse and mule stock is in better demand. The lumber industry the country over has gained quite an impetus during the past few months, and there is some considerable inquiry for timbered lands. All going to show that there is a turn of the tide which augurs well.

One of the most delectable dishes of the South-land is country style fried chicken. There isn't any doubt about it. If you doubt it, try it. This favorite dish has long occupied a preferred place on the table of the South. No meal was considered complete among the country folk unless there was placed thereon a dish of spring chicken, fried as those who have long known the art know how to fry it. A crisp brown is the style, and the fellow whose palate does not respond to the taste with alacrity, had better consult a specialist at once, for he it known that there is something radically wrong with his taster. At all the public occasions especially in the country districts, this dish has always had a preferred place. These brown, crisp, sweet and juicy peices of meat were among the first articles sought when dinner was announced. Country style fried chicken will always have a place on the menu, and be it known that the Methodist preacher is not the only one who eats it with a relish.

Don't destroy the flowers that bloom out in Nature's garden. Along the roadsides; off the roadsides in the dells and valleys of the country there about this season of the year an abundance of pretty flowers. There is a disposition to strip these sections of these beautiful creations every recurring Spring. This is wrong. If this habit be persisted in for any length of time the very thing which makes a trip to the wildwood pleasant and refreshing will be removed, for there will be no flowers to greet one if the habit keeps growing as at present noticed. In some instances the entire shrub bloom and all is gathered and brought in. Save them, taking just enough to remind one of the pleasant trip. There are others who will want to make the pilgrimage to those spots, and if there are no flowers to greet them, much of the pleasant anticipations of the trip will be lost.

In every crisis there are always those who disclaim any connection whatever in the dilemma which present itself. The coal operators are strong in their claim that they are not a party to the cause, and the miners are equally insistent. Where the real blame lies the public will never know; suffice it to say that the public will know that they have had a strike as revealed in the cost of the coal pile. It always has happened thus, and always will.

Practically all like to go to a properly conducted circus. There are yet some who do not like to acknowledge the fact, and insist that they would not go but for the fact they have just promised some little boy or girl that they will take them. Pretty good excuse and it works well, but most people smile.

Lord Northcliffe, noted Englishman abroad reports from New Zealand: "Refreshment was occasionally difficult to get, but when obtained there was no fear of deleterious consequences." The Lord doubtless filed his dispatch before the morning after.

The Old World has found a new way to get rid of their ex-monarch's: exile them and let them die by the natural route. Nature then alone is the executor.

Nationalization of Muscle Shoals is boldly proclaimed from Washington. The inconsistency of Republicans taking such a step was mildly referred to in this paper several days ago.

Henry Ford has been reported as even bringing a curse on his employees. There are a lot of people that would like to get the kind of "cussing" Henry gives.

A man "batted in" at a waiting line before the railroad ticket window yesterday and the men who were in a hurry glowered. "I want a ticket for Boston," said the man, as he put 50 cents under the window.

That Morning
Lameness

If you are lame every morning and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on Decatur testimony.

Mrs. W. A. McMullan, 415 E. Pond St., Decatur, says: "I know from experience how reliable Doan's Kidney Pills are. My kidneys became weak and didn't act as they should. When ironing I got a terrible, heavy ache across my kidneys and had to put up my work and rest. Mornings I felt lame and ached through my back. I felt tired and worn-out all the time and my housework was a burden. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they rid me of all the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. McMullan had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, April 11.—In a room on Fourth avenue which was a bar-room until the law took away that occupation for rooms, reposes the fan of an Austrian Empress. It still looks like a bar-room, because the bar and the brass rail are still in place; but against the wall rests a rosewood case that holds the Empress' fan, with its eleven golden crowns resting on eleven crimson splashes of crimson embroidery at the tops of eleven tortoise shell sticks. The Empress' name is embroidered on it, too. None but the hands of nobility had ever touched it until this past week. It has never been sold and it is not on sale now. When the Empress died, Emperor Franz Joseph sent it back as a keepsake to the woman who made it. A New York business man had been to school with the two sons of that woman, and when he was in Europe recently, he called upon her. Her sons were among the Austrian dead in the war, and she gave this fan in its rosewood case to their American friend as a token from their family. A man whose name was little known but whose portrait has been loved by thousands died here the other day. He was Paul Mason, the model for pretty nearly every Santa Claus picture that has been published in this country for a score of years. His picture as Santa adorns magazine covers, leaflets, tuberculosis campaign stamps, and various other illustrated bits of painted matter. He was 79 years old, and he dropped dead where perhaps he would have most chosen to die, at the Art Students' League, 215 West Fifty-Seventh street.

Young Viscount Holmesdale, son and heir of the Earl of Amherst, whose ancestor founded Amherst College, is one of our most popular titled visitors of the year. He is with us now and seems to be enjoying himself tremendously.

Gone is the South Sea Island fad! Gone are the shredded skirts and the ukeleles, playing "Tahiti" in our smartest cabaret and dancing places. All winter we've been watching South Sea dances and hearing South Sea-ish music. Suddenly cafe society has turned another page and now everything is Russian; as Russian as it was back in the days of the first Russian ballet which intrigued us so. Russian dances, folk-songs, pantomimes, and music now crowd every hour of our after-theatre "clubs".

A Little Book Helped Her to Decide

Milwaukee, Wis.—"My daughter took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she was so weak and did not feel like going to school. She was like that for a whole year before taking your Vegetable Compound. I found a little book of yours in our mail-box and decided to give her your medicine. She is now strong and well and attends school every day. We recommend your Vegetable Compound to all mothers with weak daughters. You may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. E. KLUCZNY, 917 20th Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

"I was always feeling tired and sleepy, was losing in weight and would faint at times. I had other troubles too, that made me feel badly. I read your little book and heard friends talk about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done them, so I have taken it too. The results are most satisfactory, for I have gained in weight and my bad symptoms are gone. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to all my friends and you may make whatever use you like of this letter."—GLORIA RAMIREZ, 1116 9th Ave., Tampa, Florida.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

BIG MENAGERIE.

Is Quite a Feature With Gollmar Bros. Famous Circus.

The menageries with Gollmar Bros. Circus forms a complete zoological display second to none seen with any other traveling amusement enterprise. In this department are to be found the most perfect as well as the rarest specimens of animals life on the earth, each of the species carefully classified. There is a whole kindergarten of baby elephants, camels, lions and tigers which will be especially interesting to children and students. In the mammoth main tent the display proper will prove all and more than claimed for it, the program including a colossal coterie of exclusive all-star features.

There will be thrilling, nerve shattering aerialists, superbly astonishing equestrians, death courting acrobats, lith and sinuous contortionists, breath-taking wire walkers and bicyclists, clever jugglers phenomenally educated horses, ponies and wild beasts and a myriad of other amazing and pleasing numbers. This season Gollmar Bros. Circus is presented under one huge water-proof canvas amphitheatre and will be seen in Albany, Wednesday, April 19, in the Albany Ball grounds when two performances will be given under the auspices of the Tennessee Valley Shrine Club.

There will be a fete day free street parade at 11 o'clock in the morning and this display alone will be worth traveling many miles to view. It will be two full scintillating miles of richly costumed lady and gentlemen riders, handsome chariots, vans, tableaux, floats, open and closed dens of fierce wild beasts, brightly caparisoned horses and ponies, herds of elephants and camels and hosts of novelties.

NEWS OF ATHENS AND LIMESTONE COUNTY

The annual convention of the state Christian Endeavors convened in Athens Thursday, the delegates arriving late in the afternoon on a special train. Over three hundred delegates are here and the convention will adjourn Sunday night. The Presbyterian and Christian churches will be the hosts of the occasion.

The concert given by the Birmingham Southern college glee club at Athens college auditorium Monday night was well attended and proved to be a very delightful event. The musical numbers by the young men composing the club were up to the Birmingham-Southern's usual high standard and were greatly enjoyed.

The barn of B. T. Coffman, 11 miles from Athens on the Florence road, was struck by lightning Wednesday. Mr. Coffman had about 20 bushels of corn and 75 or 100 bushels of cotton seed to burn, while Tom Brooks, renter of the place, lost two head of mules and all of his feed.

The spelling bee at the court house Friday night for the benefit of the P. S. I. A. attracted a fair crowd and proved quite interesting to the on-lookers.

No more delightful entertainment has ever been tendered the Snow Pryor Bible class than that of Saturday afternoon, March 25, with Mrs. R. T. Tyler as hostess. Miss Snow Pryor, teacher, and Mrs. Laura Chandler, class president, received the guests, whose number registered 49. Delicious refreshments were served as the guests arrived and all were adorned with "wee chicken" favors. They placed each in a splendid humor to enjoy the program which followed. Under the blessed influence of such a teacher, each pupils feels it an honor to belong to the Snow Pryor Bible class.

Rev. J. O. Williams, pastor of the Baptist church, has been unable to fill his appointments the past two Sundays, due to the illness of Mrs. Williams. The entire church sympathizes with the pastor and his family in this hour of distress and anxiety and wish for Mrs. Williams a speedy recovery. Hon. Joe Woodward, one of Pulaski's attorneys, and a brother of Mrs. W. C. Ross, of this place, died at Battle Creek sanitarium last week and his remains were interred at Pulaski. Mrs. Ross' many friends sympathize with her and other members of the bereaved family.

The Quest club met with Mrs. W. E. Willis Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Robert McConnell gave an interesting talk on "Life Study of Helen Keller." Mrs. C. W. Kendrick read a splendid paper on "Social Problems," taking as her special subject, "Jazz Music." Three other subjects were discussed with much interest. Later delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The club will meet with Mrs. Robert McConnell in May.

H. B. Malone was in Decatur Monday on business.

C. E. Frost was in Decatur Monday afternoon.

Mrs. C. P. Clay is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Clay.

Mrs. M. M. Rosenau and Miss Evelyn Carter were visitors to Decatur Monday.

Mrs. Carl Carter and baby and Miss Carson have returned from a visit to Florence.

Mrs. Frank Hertzler spent Monday in Decatur and Albany.

Misses Myrtle Anna Yarbrough, Mal Allen, and Mrs. Lawrence Johnston were visitors to Decatur Monday.

Miss Fannie May Baldridge, of Louisville, Ky., was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. R. H. Richardson Monday.

The friends of Mrs. Alice Lewis will be pleased to know that she is recovering after being confined to her room for some days.

James N. Howard, one of our popular bankers, went to Birmingham last week on business.

Mrs. Garner and daughter, Mrs. Middleton, after a pleasant visit to her daughter, Mrs. R. T. Tyler, wife of the Methodist pastor of Athens, have returned to their homes in Huntsville.

Mrs. Smith, nee Hettie Parham, of Birmingham, has been the delightful guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Parham, the past week.

Mrs. Ed Gilbert entertained beautifully at Rook the past week. She was assisted by her two charming daughters, Mrs. Marion Mitchell and Miss Rebecca Gilbert. Following the game, a lovely luncheon was served.

Mrs. Leon Cartwright had the Tuesday evening whist club with her last Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hendricks entertained the Rook club at their home in South Clinton Tuesday evening.

Mrs. W. T. McDaniel was the charming hostess to the Tuesday night club last week, and it was one of the most delightful meetings held by the club members.

Mrs. J. C. McFarland had with her last Friday afternoon the two-table bridge club and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent by the members. Miss Pat Westmoreland had with her the past week the Thursday bridge club.

Robert Ryan, son of Col. and Mrs. W. H. Ryan, who has made this territory for a tobacco company of St. Louis, has been given a merited promotion. He has been made assistant sales manager, with headquarters at Birmingham, and his place on the road has been given to Henry Evans, a former Athens boy.

Mrs. and Mrs. A. M. Delk, who have been living with the parents of Mrs. Delk, have moved to the home of Jess Fuika, where they have secured rooms.

D. J. S. Chadwick, of Nashville, has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Nelson Cartwright, this week.

D. C. Drake, who wears on his coat the colors of honor, denoting the fact that he was a gallant and honorable Confederate soldier, was a pleasant visitor Monday.

After a very successful meeting, the delegates to the State Christian Endeavor Convention left on their special train about 1 a. m. Monday morning. They were loud in their praises of Athens, its people and entertainment, and regrets at leaving so soon were heard from one and all. The convention was a fine body of young people, who seemed zealous and earnest in their work, and their reports show that the work is progressing in all departments. Athens will bid them a cordial welcome at all times.

News to Mr. Hines' family Saturday came as rather a surprise regarding Butler Hine, who was at St. Vincents for an operation on his throat. His many friends hope it was successful and that he will soon be strong and well again. His sister, Mrs. Beattie, left Sunday night in answer to a call from him, and was with him during his operation.

Limestone and Athens promised to send a good delegation of teachers to the A. E. A., which meets in Birmingham this week.

The convention kept up the usual record of such gatherings by having at least one wedding during its session, Miss Phillips and Mr. Thorson having married at the courthouse at 10:30 Saturday night.

Which Petal Will the Prince Pick From the Daisy?

The Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, might be called the king-of hearts. During recent months he has been reported to be engaged to the five titled ladies in the daisy group about him. Which petal will he pluck? Society in all the world is eager to know the answer. The Prince, going merrily on his way, unperturbed by reports of his "forthcoming marriage," is not telling anyone who will be "she." From the great list of eligibles he even may decide that he doesn't care for a daisy petal, after all. The Prince is expected to make a choice when he returns from his tour of the Orient.

STOICAL TARTAR TOWN

WIPE OUT BY FAMINE

(International News Service)
LONDON, April 10. — The entire population of one village in the Volost Verchnie Oozlon, Tartar Republic has been wiped out by the famine. This report, made by J. Rives Childs, of Lynchburg, Va., American Relief Administration supervisor for that district has just been received at the London office of the A. R. A.

"The entire population has now perished of hunger," writes Childs. "Word has just been brought in that the last four Tartars have died."

Though the A. R. A. on February 1 was feeding 301,054 children in this district, Childs estimates that there are between 300,000 and 500,000 others who are not being reached by any relief agency and who must depend on a scant supply of substitutes for their lives this winter. Fourteen ounces of edible clay per day is the total supply available in some districts. Bread, of course, is absolutely unobtainable, and now even common fertilizer is being used for human food.

"I think also that the calm, almost stoical manner in which the people are awaiting the path to death deserves to be recorded as showing a spirit unexampled by any people in recent years."

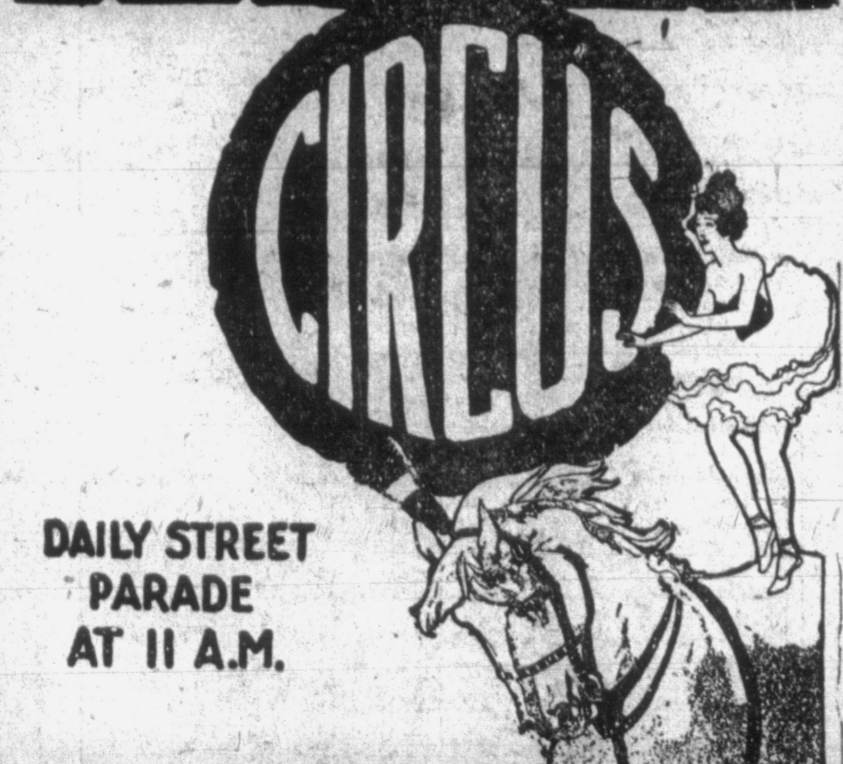

His "Graven Image."

It is quite true that some people adhere so strictly to their own reading of biblical laws that they refuse to have their photographs taken. These very particular people insist that Exodus 20:4—"Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything"—forbids the taking of photographs of the painting of portraits.
